This is HIGHlarious!

The Sochi Winter Olympics Opening Ceremony was full of wonderfulness, like a performance from t.A.T.u., but this one definitely stood out!

The Russian Ministry of Internal Affairs choir got to sing their rendition of Daft Punk's hit Get Lucky on one of the biggest stages in the world!

These members of the Russian Red Army Choir first went viral when they performed this song back in November 2013, and we're thrilled there was an encore!

While plenty of things have gone wrong already in Sochi, this is one moment that is sure to put a smile on your face (below)!
