

12 AUG 2014

The Red Army Choir

0 comment 25 views

Your Rating ☆☆☆☆☆

Overall Rating ☆☆☆☆☆

We Group presents a live family performance by The Red Army Choir on September 13 at the Beirut Waterfront at 8:00 pm, in cooperation with the Russian Federation embassy, Solidere and with the support of the Minister of Tourism, Michel Pharaon.

This choir of men is rich with Russian history; all of them were fighting soldiers who glorified the communist revolution in the Army. They encouraged people to relive the spirit of October's rebellion, which was intuitive in those who suffered through wars, starvation and political indoctrination in the era of the Russian Tsars. Thus, they supported their country and uplifted the morale of the worn-out forces. They are the voices of the Revolution, the Modern Soviet Union and the Soviets. Furthermore, they come from an open nation with a passion for art and literature.

Over the past three decades, the Red Army Choir performed more than 7000 shows in several languages, to more than 20 million viewers and in more than 50 countries, including China, Japan, Germany and France, under the leadership of Gen. Victor Eliseev.

Among the choir's accomplishments are the "Platinum Star" award for which they are the only chorus to receive, the "Russia's artist" title won by fifty of its band members, a yearly participation in the celebrations of WWII Victory day in Russia and around 20 television shows during peak time. Their new project, "Red Opera," produced three video clips that accomplished Triple Disque in France and Double Disque D'Or in Germany.

The Red Army Choir also opened the Winter Olympic Games in Sochi last February, received Platinum awards in France and Germany last year and collaborated with world renowned international artists such as Celine Dion, Vincent Michaela and Michel Sardou.

The Red Army Choir will soon perform in Poland, England, Bulgaria and Germany until the end of 2015. The band accordingly performs various shows on stage around 300 days per year.

Tickets available at all Virgin Megastore Branches